PETITION FOR SPECIAL RELIEF

Pursuant to Section 614 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended by the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992, (47 U.S.C. § 534) and Section 76.7 and 76.59 of the Commission's Rules (47 C.F.R. §§ 76.7 and 76.59), Woods Communications Corporation, licensee of WCOV-TV, Montgomery, AL, hereby petitions the Commission to include in WCOV's market Lee County, Alabama on a mandatory must carry basis. WCOV requests that Lee County be included in its market for purposes of asserting must-carry carriage rights in accordance with 47 U.S.C. § 534(a) and 47 C.F.R. § 76.56(b). As will be explained herein, WCOV meets all applicable statutory and regulatory requirements for inclusion of Lee County in its market. The inclusion of Lee County in WCOV's market serves the public interest in local programming, is appropriate given WCOV's current programming and operations, and is fully consistent with applicable statutory and regulatory requirements.

I. INTRODUCTION

In evaluating a station's request for modification of its market, the Commission examines the current circumstances concerning a television station's operations and programming. WCOV's growing audience; its technical coverage of Lee County, and its programming targeted to the need and interests of the residents of Lee County, demonstrate that Lee County is part of WCOV's market and is therefore entitled to carriage on a must carry basis.

WCOV's programming is responsive to the needs of the residents of Lee County. It broadcasts programs, including children's programs, nightly news, news, news specials, and local public affairs and opinion programs, that are focused on issues important to residents of Lee County. As shown in this Petition, WCOV satisfies all the statutory and regulatory factors required for inclusion of Lee County within its market. In particular, Lee County is carried by another station in the Montgomery DMA, WCOV reaches both cable and noncable audiences, provides a Grade B signal and provides programming that is responsive to the needs and interests of the residents of Lee County. Moreover, other factors support the evidence of an economic nexus between WCOV and Lee County. As such, WCOV's request that the Commission include Lee County in its market so that WCOV may assert mandatory must carry rights is appropriate, will server the public interest, and should be granted.

II. Inclusion of the County in WCOV's market meets the Statutory and Commission

Standards for Market Modifications

A. Market Modification Standards

A commercial television station is entitled to assert mandatory must carry rights on cable systems located within its market defined as its DMA.¹ Under the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (the "Act"), the Commission must consider requests for changes to a station's market area. The Commission may include communities within a television station's market "to better effectuate the purposes of [47 U.S.C. § 534].² Indeed inclusion of the Lee County in WCOV's market would best achieve purposes of the statutory must carry requirements and of the market modification process.

¹ See 47 U.S.C. § 534(b)(i)(c) and 47 C.F.R. 76.55(e) (a commercial broadcast station's market is defined by Nielsen Media Research's DMA.)

The market modification procedures were codified in the Act "to ensure that television stations be carried in the area in which they serve and which form their economic market."³ In considering whether a requested market modification effectuates the purpose of the mandatory carriage provisions of the Act, Congress directed the Commission to "afford particular attention to the value of localism" by taking into account evidence which demonstrates the existence of certain factors.⁴ Those factors include the following:

- (i) whether the station, or other stations located in the same area, have been historically carried on the cable system or systems within such community;
- (ii) whether the television station provides coverage of other local service to such community;
- (iii) whether any other television station that is eligible to be carried by a cable system in such community in fulfillment of the requirements of this section provides news coverage of issues of concern to such community or provides carriage or coverage of sporting and other events of interest to the community; and
- (iv) evidence of viewing patterns in cable and noncable households within the areas served by the cable system or systems in such community.

"These factors are not intended to be exclusive but may be used to demonstrate that a community is part of a particular station's market."⁵ The Commission has noted that it "do[es] not want to restrict the types of evidence that parties can submit to demonstrate the propriety of changing a station's must-carry market."⁶ Moreover, the Commission "do[es] not believe that it is achievable to prejudge the importance of any of the factors specified in the Statute since each case will be unique."⁷

In addition to the aforementioned statutory factors, the Commission's rules require that a licensee of a television station seeking inclusion in a market provide the Commission with the following:

- (1) A map or maps illustrating the relevant community locations and geographic features, transmitter sites, cable resident locations, terrain features that affect station reception, mileage between the community and the television station transmitter site, transportation routes and other evidence contributing to the scope of the market.
- (2) Grade B contour maps showing the location of the cable system residents and communities.
- (3) Available data on shopping and labor patterns in the market
- (4) Television station programming information
- (5) Exhibits establishing historic carriage, such as cable system channel line-up cards or television guide listings.
- (6) Published audience data showing average all day audience for cable and noncable households or other audience indicia data such as station advertising and sales data.⁸

WCOV incorporates and attaches each of the six types of required evidence in support of this Petition. In the following sections of this petition, WCOV will provide detailed explanations as to why it meets each of the market inclusion criteria enumerated in the Communications Act and the Commission's rules. Those explanations are supported by the numerous documents and other exhibits attached to the petition. In evaluating those explanations and supporting documentation, WCOV respectfully urges the Commission to remain mindful of the reasons articulated by Congress in enacting Section 614 of the Act—the statutory must carry provision, and identified by the Supreme Court in concluding that must carry passes constitutional muster.

In Turner Broadcasting System Inc. v. FCC, the Court noted Congress's explanation that cable operations have a "vested financial interest in favoring their affiliated programmers or broadcast stations and they" have a built-in "economic incentive... to delete, reposition, or not carry local broadcast signals."⁹ Congress further noted (as described by the Court) that absent a must carry requirement for local broadcast stations, "the continued availability of free local broadcast television would be threatened."¹⁰ The Turner I Court noted further that the must-carry rules "ensure that broadcast television station will return to a large enough potential audience to earn necessary advertising revenue."¹¹

WCOV is committed to serving the needs of the entire DMA including those residing in Lee County. WCOV needs to be able to reach its potential audience throughout the DMA to generate sufficient revenue and to preserve the value of the station—necessary to enable it to continue to provide programming service throughout the DMA, including to Lee County. In short, the purposes underlying the statutory must carry requirement would be undermined if WCOV is not determined to have must carry rights throughout the Montgomery DMA, including Lee County.

There is a community of interest between Montgomery and Lee Counties, Lee County and portions of Montgomery County are in Alabama's Third Congressional District and are both represented by the same U.S. House Representative, Mike Rogers. Thus, residents of Lee County and several of the communities in Montgomery County share a common interest in legislative and other issues that impact their district. (See Attachment 1). In addition, residents of Lee County, by necessity, obtain goods and services from businesses located in Montgomery County, including advertising in Montgomery's in-line newspaper, and listing real estate with Montgomery County realtors offices. Furthermore, Lee County residents schedule College ACT testing at Montgomery County facilities. (See Attachment 2).

It should also be noted that there is significant interaction between Montgomery County and Lee County wherein both areas are serviced by the same electric company, Dixie Electric Cooperative. (See Attachment 3). Furthermore, the local Montgomery County High Schools compete against certain high schools in Lee County (See Attachment 4).

Montgomery County and Lee County have joint efforts for community outreach projects such as Special Olympic Events and School/Family Aid Fundraisers. (See Attachment 5).

There is also extensive interaction between the two counties through Auburn University located in Lee County. Significantly, Auburn has a branch campus located in Montgomery Country, Auburn University—Montgomery. The counties' interact together sponsoring community events such as Easter Egg Hunts co-organized by the Montgomery County Police Department and Auburn University. Additional Montgomery County organizations such as the Alabama Cooperative Extension Service and Entrepreneurs Resources extends their instruction to include Lee County's Auburn University. (See Attachment 6).

TECHNICAL DATA

The WCOV-TV main site is located in Montgomery County and operates with an ERP of 460 kilowatts with a HAAT of 518 meters. The facility places a predicted 41 dBu F(50,90) contour area 59% of the area and 67.5% of the population of Lee County. Each of the three headends are located inside the WCOV predicted 41 dBu F (50,90) contour. WCOV places a predicted signal of – 61 dBm or greater to a wide geographical area in Lee County and to each of the three cable headends. As demonstrated in the attached engineering statement, WCOV complies with Section 76.55(c)(3) of the Commission's rules. (See Attachment 7).¹²

There are three (3) cable systems serving Lee County, WOW, Charter, and Opelika Power Service. The three cable headends are within the standard UHF DTV coverage contours. (See Attachment 7).

WCOV has significant off-air viewing potential in the western half of Lee County including the communities of Auburn and Opelika. All three cable companies offer service in Western Lee County.

CARRIAGE

WCOV has no history of carriage on any of the Lee County cable systems. however, WSFA, Montgomery, AL, Facility Id No 13993 is carried on the Lee County Systems. The Commission has held that carriage on systems that serve Communities adjacent to and near the Community at issue is indicative of the interest in the programming of the station. See Petition of Paxson Communications Corporation for Modification of Television market of Station

¹² The required technical showings are included in Attachment 7.

WPXD(TV), Ann Arbor, Michigan, 13 FCC Rcd. 17869, 17874 (1998). Cable and satellite operators' carriage of WSFA as a broadcast television station available to viewers in Lee County demonstrates that WSFA, Montgomery, is considered to be part of the local market. As such, this fact strongly suggests that Lee County be included in WCOV's carriage.

The Commission has determined that a cable operator's carriage of similarly situated stations undermine[d] its claim that the communities were not part of the same economic market for broadcast television purposes.¹³

PROGRAMMING

As previously discussed in detail there is a commonality of interest between Montgomery and Lee Counties. WCOV currently provides programming directed to the interests of the residents of Lee County. Specifically, the following programs should be noted:

1. WCOV News at 9:00 35 Minutes. The WCOV news airs seven nights each week.
 - a. The WCOV Sports segment covers Auburn sports on a year round basis. WCOV regularly covers Auburn Football, Basketball, Baseball and Softball. WCOV also covers Auburn gymnastics and swimming, depending on the strength of the sport in a particular season. Montgomery has many Auburn graduates.
 - b. The WCOV weather segment usually pertains to central Alabama and often features weather moving toward Lee County or weather over Lee County.

¹³ See Brennor Cable Partners, L.P. d/b/a Intermedia Partners: For Modification of the Atlanta Georgia AOI, et al., 14 FCC Rcd. 11742, ¶ 32 (Cable Servs. Bur. 199) ("the significance of geographical distance can be mitigated by other factors such as the carriage of similarly-situated television stations."

- c. The WCOV News often airs stories from Lee County as many Auburn residents and Lee County residents migrated from Montgomery. Auburn is known for strong public schools and low crime, both of which are appealing for families.
2. Auburn Football Everyday 30 minutes. Thirteen (13) total airings each season. This show runs from the beginning of September through the end of November. WCOV airs the show twice each week, on Saturdays at 6am and 9am. This show features life on Auburn's campus with Auburn football players.
3. Auburn Football Review 30 minutes. Thirteen (13) total airings each season. This show runs from the beginning of September through the end of November. It airs Sundays at 9:30pm on WCOV and also on Mondays at 6:30pm on WCOV's subchannel 20.2. This show is hosted by the Auburn Football coach and shows highlights of the prior week's football game.
4. Auburn Basketball Everyday Nine (9) total airings. Runs from the beginning of January through the end of February. This show airs Saturdays at 6:30am. This show is hosted by the Auburn Basketball coach and shows highlights of the prior weeks' basketball games.
5. MPD This show is 30 minutes in length and airs Monday nights at 6:30pm. MPD is produced by WCOV in cooperation with the Montgomery Police department. The show is educational in that police officers frequently explain the mistakes made by people and often shares advice on how to reduce or prevent viewers becoming subject to victimization. Each week a CrimeStopper segment is featured where the public is asked to help solving crimes. The crimes in question may also involve those occurring in or impacting Lee County. The police department receives calls from the show and often moves closer to solving crimes. The program appeals to a wide audience—both Montgomery and Lee County residents.

It is well settled that coverage of new and other programming of interest to the community could be demonstrated by program logs or other descriptions of local program offerings. See Implementation of the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act of 1992 Broadcast Signal Carriage Issues, 8 FCC Rcd. 2965, 2976-77, ¶47 (1993).

A station's broadcast of local programming which has a distinct nexus to the cable community, is also evidence of local service. See Frontier Vision Operating Partners, L.P., 16 FCC Rcd. 17745, 17753, ¶ 19 (Cable Servs. Bur. 2001). The Commission has found that information about a station's programming "is particularly useful in determining whether the television station provides specific service to the community subject to modifications." See Definition of Markets for Purposes of the Cable Television Broadcast Signal Carriage Rules, 14 FCC Rcd. 8366, 8391 (1999). The Commission has also held that a station's reporting of local news, public affairs, sports, weather, and other programming that is of interest to a community's residents is evidence of the station's service to the community. See, e.g. Ackerly Media Group, Inc.: For Modification of the Television Market of Television Station KION(TV), Monterey, California, 18 FCC Rcd. 16199, 16202, 16205 (Cable Servs. Bur. 2003) (adding community where station covered high-school sports—earn in the community and provided regular weather updates; Modification of the Television Market of Television Station WFSB, et al., 10 FCC Rcd. 4939, 4941-43 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1999); Blackstar of Ann Arbor, Inc. 11 FCC Rcd. 14992, 15002 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1995) (expanding station's market to include communities where station provided public affairs programming concerning relevant community issues. Also see e.g. Time Warner Entertainment—Advance/Newhouse Partnerships: For Modification of the ADI of Television Broadcast Station KZKI, 13 FCC Rcd. 5900, 5905-06; 5908-09, 5910 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1997) (denying request to delete communities where station provided traffic and weather reports and national news impacting the communities.) As previously described, WCOV's current programming includes a significant amount of programs targeting the local interests of Lee County residents. This programming further demonstrates why Lee County should be included in WCOV's local market. In the past, the Commission has refused to delete a community from a station's local market when the station has broadcast significantly less local programming than that broadcast by WCOV. See, e.g., Paxson New York License, Inc., 14 FCC Rcd. 7715, 7721 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1999) (station's production of a single weekly public affairs program that sometimes focused on the communities it sought to add was sufficient to warrant a finding of local service), rev'd on other grounds sub. nom., Petition of Community Television Systems, Inc., 15 FCC Rcd. 7275 (2000); Petition of G Force, L.L.C., 13 FCC Rcd. at 10389-91 (denying cable operator's request to delete communities from station's market when the station provided two and one half hours of local programming per week).

The Commission has consistently applied the third statutory factor unique, programming as an enhancement criterion where a television station could show that it provides a service that other local stations do not provide. In cases where stations provide similar programming, the Commission has stated that the mere fact that two or more stations share the same format is not grounds for concluding that their programming is duplicative for purposes of the Commission's must-carry rules. See Avenue TV Cable Service, Inc. For modification of the ADI Market of KVHY-TV and KZKI(TV), 11 FCC Rcd. 4803, ¶22 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1996) (quoting ML Media Partners, LP, 10 FCC Rcd. 9456, 9461, ¶ 12 (Cable Servs. Bur. 1995)).

WCOV is a Fox Television network affiliate. There is another Fox affiliate serving Lee County, WXTX.¹⁴ However, as previously in this Petition, WCOV offers unique local programming that is not available on other stations serving Lee County. It should also be noted that WXTX is licensed to Columbia, GA. Thus, the emphasis in its news coverage are matters pertaining to Georgia, rather than Alabama. Moreover, WXTX is located in the eastern time zone of the country while WCOV and the residents of Lee County are located in the central time zone. Thus, the WXTX program schedule is not in sync with the normal viewing schedule of Lee County residents.

CONCLUSION

For the reasons explained in this Petition, WCOV satisfies each of the relevant statutory and regulatory factors for mandatory carriage in Lee County. Accordingly, WCOV respectfully requests the Commission to grant this Petition and confirm that Lee County be included in WCOV's market for purposes of asserting must-carry carriage rights.

Alabama's 3rd congressional district

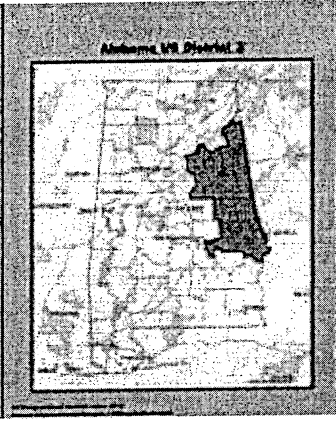

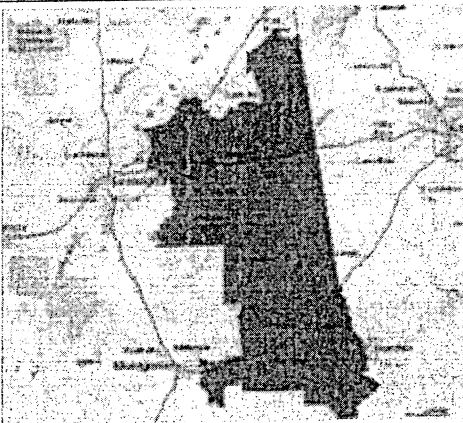

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Alabama's 3rd congressional district is a United States congressional district in Alabama that elects a representative to the United States House of Representatives. It is based in east central Alabama and encompasses portions of Montgomery and the entirety of Calhoun, Chambers, Cherokee, Clay, Cleburne, Lee, Macon, Randolph, Russell, St. Clair, Talladega, and Tallapoosa counties.

The district takes in some of the city of Montgomery. Other cities in the district include Talladega, Tuskegee and Auburn. At the federal level, the district is fairly Republican-leaning, albeit not as strongly as many of the other districts in the state. John McCain carried the district in 2008 with 56.21% of the vote while Barack Obama clinched 43.04% of the vote.

The district is currently represented by Republican Mike Rogers and was once represented by Bob Riley, the former Governor of Alabama.

Early life and education

A fifth generation resident of Calhoun County in East Alabama, Rogers graduated from Saks High School and earned both his undergraduate degree in Political Science and Masters of Public Administration at Jacksonville State University in Jacksonville, Alabama.

Early political career

At 28 years old, Rogers became the youngest person and first Republican to join the Calhoun County Commission. While serving on the Commission and working for the United Way, Rogers enrolled at the Birmingham School of Law along with his wife, Beth, and upon graduating with honors began a general law practice in Anniston. Three years later he started his own firm, which grew to become Anniston's largest.

In 1994 he won a seat in the Alabama House of Representatives, and became Minority leader in his second term. In 2002, Bob Riley successfully ran for governor, leaving the 3rd district vacant. Rogers easily won the Republican nomination. In the general election, he faced Democratic veteran Joe Turnham, Jr., who had served three years as state party chairman and had run against Riley in the congressional election in 1998.^[1]

Except on spending, where he earned the dubious title of "April 2012 Porker of the Month"^[2] and only a 23% rating from Citizens Against Government Waste^[3] Rogers has a conservative voting record. He dissented with the Morocco free trade agreement due to potential job losses in the Alabama textile industry. the Armed Services industry in his area. On the Armed Services Committee, he opposed a new series of military base closures and won passage of a bill that would assure that universities would provide access to their facilities for military recruitment purposes and ROTC. Despite this, in 2008, he received a rating of 50% from the American Conservative Union, one of the most moderate voting records of a Southern Republican for that year.^[4]

Rogers was a recipient of former House Majority Leader Tom DeLay's ARMPAC campaign contributions. DeLay was prosecuted and convicted on charges of felony money laundering of campaign finances and conspiracy to launder money. To date, Rogers has not offered to return any of the $30,000 he received.^[5] Rogers said that DeLay is innocent until proven guilty, and that he would not return the money "while the judicial process runs its course."^[6]

After the Democratic Party took control of the House of Representatives in the 2006 elections, Rogers joined many relatively junior Republican members of the House in seeing their perceived influence diminish. Knowlegis, a nonpartisan lobbying information firm, dropped Rogers from being ranked as the 138th most influential Representative to being 402nd in that category.^[7]

Rogers is a signer of Americans for Tax Reform's Taxpayer Protection Pledge.^[8]

In December 2011, Rogers voted in support of H.R. 10, the "Regulations From the Executive in Need of Scrutiny Act," which would have required Congressional approval for any "major regulations" issued by the executive branch but, unlike the 1996 Congressional Review Act, would not require the president's signature or override of a probable presidential veto.^{[9][10]}

Rogers supported an amendment to declare that people retain the right to pray and to recognize their religious beliefs, heritage, and traditions on public property, including schools. He cosponsored legislation to prohibit the physical desecration of the flag of the United States. Rogers sponsored a bill expressing the continued support of Congress for equal access of military recruiters to institutions of higher education.^[11] He also introduced legislation making it illegal to satirize or in any way parody the Transportation Security Administration.^[12]

Political campaigns

In a very close election, the Turnham-Rogers contest was one of the most closely watched in 2002. Both Democratic and Republican National parties targeted the district, with Speaker Dennis Hastert promising Rogers a seat on the Armed Services committee should he win. Rogers heavily outspent Turnham, raising and spending $1,656,290^[13] to Turnham's $1,015,132,^[14] with Rogers enjoying an even greater margin in independent expenditures. Rogers narrowly won the election by a 50%–48% margin.^[15] In this election, Rogers became a rare Republican endorsee of The Anniston Star.^[16]

- 2008 Rogers won against Democratic nominee Joshua Segall, a Montgomery attorney, and Independent Mark Layfield.
- 2010 Rogers defeated Democratic nominee Steve Segrest.

Personal life

Rogers and his wife have three children. They reside in Saks and are members of a Baptist Church.

A new Opelika shopping hub will be home to several local and national retailers when it opens next year.

The 34,000-square-foot retail center at Interstate 85 and US 280 is positioned as a "front door" to the Tiger Town development, said Allen Hawkins of Terra Equities.

The new center will include a Pizza 120 location as well as Mattress Firm, Aspen Dental, Taziki's Café, Einstein Bagels and other national tenants. Construction should start in November, and the center will open Sept. 1, 2015.

The project team includes general contractor Robins & Morton, lender Oakworth Capital Bank, architect bDot Architecture and civil engineers Gonzalez Strength.

Hawkins also is planning a new shopping hub in Montgomery. You can read the full story on both developments here.

Auburn, Alabama - "The Loveliest Village On The Plains"

The Lee County, AL Special Olympics program is open to participants eight years of age and older who live or attend school in Lee County, AL.

Athletes are allowed to participate in any of the following events: Alpine Skiing, Aquatics, Athletics (Track and Field), Basketball, Bocce, Bowling, Cycling, Equestrian, Flag Football, Football (Soccer), Golf, Gymnastics (Artistic), Gymnastics (Rhythmic), Motor Activities, Powerlifting, Softball, Table Tennis, Team Handball, Tennis and Volleyball. Most athletes in the Lee County area participate in Athletics (Track and Field), Basketball, Bowling, Cycling, Flag Football, Golf, Gymnastics, Power Lifting, Softball, Swimming, or Volleyball. If you have an athlete or group that wants to try a new event, please let us know. We will help find a coach for that sport and local, regional or area games where that athlete/group of athletes can compete. Athletes are allowed to participate in as many sports/events as they would like on a local or regional level. However, an athlete can only compete in one sport at the State and National Games. Athletes are placed in divisions based on their age, gender, and qualifying score/time.

Unified Sports, we proud to offer more team sports through our Unified Sports. Dedicated to promoting social inclusion through shared sports training and competition experiences, Unified Sports joins people with and without intellectual disabilities on the same team. It was inspired by a simple principle: training together and playing together is a quick path to friendship and understanding. In Unified Sports, teams are made of people of similar age and ability, which practices more fun and games more challenging and exciting for all. Having a sport in common is just one more way that preconceptions and false ideas are swept away.

Medicals and participation waivers are required for all participants in the Special Olympics program. Medicals are current for 3 years, after which a new medical form must be completed. A physician's signature is required on the medical form. If you are unsure if your students need to update their medicals, please contact the Lee County Director to check against the Master List. If you know you already need medicals, please feel free to contact the Director with the amount you need and they will be mailed to you shortly. All medicals must be current on the day the student participates in an athletic event.

Many people think they do not have enough expertise to become a Special Olympics coach; however, all it takes is a willingness to learn a few, simple rules of the sport and then plenty of enthusiasm and encouragement for the athletes. Coaching is an extremely rewarding experience and something that just might change your life! If you don't think you have enough time to commit to becoming a coach, then please consider becoming a Volunteer. Any time you can give to these wonderful athletes is well spent and very much appreciated! Most coaching and orientation workshops are held each Fall - please check back for future workshop dates.

Schools aid family of late Lee student

By Scott Johnson; 12:13 a.m. CST February 8, 2014

(Photo: CONTRIBUTED)

Alex Bridgman was a dedicated Boy Scout who had nearly completed the necessary steps to become an Eagle Scout, a close family friend said Friday.

The 16-year-old Robert E. Lee High School junior died Tuesday after being hit by a pickup while crossing a street in Pelham on the way back from a field trip.

Lee students plan to have a "loose change" fundraiser, where students can deposit change into cans to be donated to a fund that has been opened at ServisFirst Bank, to help his family with funeral and other expenses.

Other schools in the system will be collecting donations as well, including Loveless Academic Magnet Program High School and McMillan Elementary School. Some schools will offer an "out-of-uniform" day for students who donate, said Tom Salter, spokesman for Montgomery Public Schools.

Phenix City Public Schools also will be taking donations, Salter said.

In many ways, Bridgman was a typical teenager, family friend David McCaughtry said.

He loved computers, video games, the television series "Breaking Bad," anime and eating Conecuh sausage, and he spent a good deal of time with his headphones on listening to music, McCaughtry said.

But Bridgman also babysat McCaughtry's 6-year-old daughter and was working on completing the project that would put him near the final step toward becoming an Eagle Scout.

McCaughtry said Bridgman's affection for his daughter meant a lot to him.

"He was like a nephew to me," McCaughtry said.

Bridgman already had reached the rank of Life Scout, the second-highest Scouting ranking.

He was a member of Troop 103 and was working to rebuild the fire pit at the Civilian Conservation Corps camping area at Chewacla State Park in Auburn, McCaughtry said.

Part of the project was building the pit and surrounding area in a way that would have the smallest possible ecological impact, including using reclaimed bricks, McCaughtry said.

Several others involved in Scouting have contacted McCaughtry about completing the project in Bridgman's honor, he said.

Once the project was completed, Bridgman would have gone before a review board that would have determined whether to bestow the Eagle Scout rank, he said.

Besides being a Scout, Bridgman also was just a likeable person who was not self-conscious or concerned what other people thought, McCaughtry said.

"Everybody really did love Alex. I couldn't tell you anybody who would have ever spoken bad about him," he said.

HOW TO HELP

Donations for Alex Bridgman's family will be deposited into a special fund at ServisFirst Bank, which has branches at 1 Commerce St. and at 8117 Vaughn Road. The account number for the fund is 1210143549.

Auburn University at Montgomery

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Auburn University at Montgomery (AUM) is a coeducational public university located in Montgomery, Alabama, United States. It is governed by the Auburn University Board of Trustees, and is a branch campus of Auburn University. It was established by an act of the Alabama Legislature in 1967. AUM offers programs of study leading to bachelor's, master's, and specialist degrees in business, education, liberal arts, nursing, and sciences. The university enrolls more than 5,500 students, with an additional 10,000 enrolled in continuing education programs. In January 2007, the university moved toward branding itself as Auburn Montgomery.

History

AUM was established in 1967 by Act 403 of the Alabama Legislature. In March 1968, Dr. H. Hanly Funderburk, Jr., was appointed vice president and chief administrator of the newly created university. AUM opened its doors in September 1969 with nearly 600 students in the old Alabama Extension Center on Bell Street, next to Maxwell AFB. Two years later, the university relocated to a 500-acre (2.0 km²) campus on the McLemore Plantation tract, 7 miles (11 km) east of downtown Montgomery. The campus' first two buildings were the Administration/Library building and Goodwyn Hall with classrooms and faculty offices.^[3]

AUM has been accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as an operationally separate institution since 1978.^[3]

In January 2007, the university began branding itself as Auburn Montgomery and unveiled a new logo. The redesigned logo incorporates the Ida Belle Young Tower in a style resembling Auburn University's logo, which features the Samford Hall clock tower. While the university's official name will remain the same, the rebranding aims to increase cooperation between the institutions.^[3]

Academics

For the 2008-2009 academic year, AUM enrolled 4,686 undergraduate and 869 graduate students. The student body is 64 percent female and 36 percent male. 58 percent of students are white, 33 percent are black, 2 percent are Asian, and 1 percent are Hispanic.

AUBURN
MONTGOMERY

AUM comprises two Colleges (Business and Arts & Sciences) and two Schools (Education and Nursing) that offer bachelor, master and specialist degree programs. The most popular bachelor's degrees granted are business administration (25 percent), nursing (13 percent), liberal arts (9 percent), biology (8 percent) elementary education (7 percent) and secondary education (7 percent). AUM offers a joint doctorate program with Auburn University in Public Administration.

AUM has a continuing education program that enrolls over 10,000 students annually. Continuing Education curricula include certificate programs, corporate education, community education, computer training, languages (including English as a Foreign or Second Language), online training, and youth programs.

AUM's College of Business ranks in the top 5% of business schools in the world, as accredited by The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business International, and was rated a "Best Business School" by The Princeton Review.^[4]

Lecture series

Annual lectures include the Durr Lectures (since 1992), named for Clifford and Virginia Durr, Montgomery lawyers and civil rights activists;^[5] and the Ingram Lectures (since 1989), named for Robert Ingram, noted political analyst and journalist.^[6]

Residential life

Housing

AUM offers apartment style residence halls in one, two, three or four bedroom floor plans. Housing is divided into three communities: The Courtyards, The Commons, and Warhawk Hall. The Courtyards residence opened in the fall of 1979 and is made up of seven two-story buildings.^[7] In 2003 the eight-story complex known as The Commons, featuring private 4-bedroom suites, was opened,^[7] and in the fall of 2013 the new Warhawk Hall featuring one, two, and three bedroom floor plans was opened. Approximately 10 percent to 15 percent of AUM students live on campus during the regular school year.

Athletics

Auburn–Montgomery (AUM) teams, nicknamed athletically as the Warhawks, are part of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), primarily competing in the Southern States Athletic Conference (SSAC). Men's sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, soccer and tennis; while women's sports include basketball, cross country, soccer, softball and tennis.

AUM has participated in the NAIA since the inception of the athletic department 30 years ago. However, AUM has routinely explored possible future participation in NCAA Division II. AUM was accepted into the membership process to NCAA Division II on July 12, 2013, but the decision was then reversed on July 26, 2013.^[8] AUM was expected to join the Peach Belt Conference in 2014-15, but this will apparently be set aside with the NCAA's refusal to admit the school.^[9] However, the school re-applied and was approved to begin the three-year Division II membership process on July 17, 2015 and will begin the transition beginning with the 2015-16 season, while joining the PBC for all sports effective in the 2016-17 season.^[10]

On August 18, 2011, AUM officially changed the name of its sports teams from the Senators to the Warhawks.

The women's tennis team have won ten NAIA national titles, including a five-title streak (2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008). The men's tennis team have won nine NAIA national titles, including a stretch of three consecutive championships (2006, 2007, 2008). They won again in 2010, Scott Kidd being elected as NAIA Coach of the Year.^[11]

Strategic Plan

September 2013 – August 2018

Established in 1967 at the request of the Montgomery Area Chamber of Commerce on behalf of local and state leaders, Auburn University at Montgomery provides excellent academic programs while supporting the function of local, state and regional government – located just seven miles east of the state capitol.

AUM offers more than 90 areas of study, at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, including unique programs in Geographic Information Systems, Hospitality and Tourism, Homeland Security, and Cybersystems and Information Security. The university is organized into five academic units: the College of Business, College of Education, College of Arts and Sciences, College of Nursing and Health Sciences, and College of Public Policy and Justice. Each offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in traditional, online and hybrid formats, with courses offered in the day, evening, and on weekends.

Auburn Montgomery is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and ranks among the South's top universities by U.S. News and World Report.

The Montgomery County Sheriff's Office has been organizing its annual Easter Egg Hunt for over 10 years. Sheriff Derrick Cunningham said this year might have been the best yet.

"This is what it's about: coming together with the community. Our goal is to get kids that Easter experience," Cunningham said.

In that goal, Cunningham and rest of the Sheriff's Office succeeded.

The egg hunt was held on the Auburn University at Montgomery campus Saturday at 4 p.m. Parents brought children of all ages to participate, and hundreds of plastic eggs covered the ground.

The Virtual Entrepreneurship Center (VEC) incorporates the expertise and experience of Alabama A&M University (AAMU), Auburn University (AU), and Tuskegee University (TU) to promote entrepreneurship and business development. The center utilizes the economic development experience of each land grant institution in the state to more effectively reach rural, nontraditional audiences, and underserved populations. The center integrates conferences, youth entrepreneurship training, myvec.org, and social media to provide training to the public. This approach provides individuals regardless of age or location the opportunity to develop their entrepreneurial skills. The center brings to bear the total capacity of Alabama's land grant institutions to address the need for greater entrepreneurship training throughout the state and especially among the youth, rural, and minority population.

ENGINEERING STATEMENT CONCERNING MARKET MODIFICATION FOR
WCOV-TV DTV CH 20 MONTGOMERY, ALABAMA
DECEMBER 2016

INTRODUCTION

The following report has been prepared on behalf of Woods Communications Corporation, licensee for DTV facilities specified in BLCDDT-20090312AAO. This report includes path profiles and maps which support a request to modify the Montgomery, Alabama designated market ("DMA") with respect to television broadcast station WCOV-TV CH 20, Montgomery, Alabama by adding Lee, County Alabama to the market.

DISCUSSION OF WCOV PROGRAM DISTRIBUTION FACILITIES

The WCOV-TV main site is located in Montgomery, County and operates with an ERP of 460 kilowatts with an HAAT of 518 meters. The facility places a predicted 41 dBu F(50,90) contour over 59% of the area and 67.5% of the population of Lee County and 100% of the community of Auburn, Alabama. There are three cable TV headends that serve Auburn and the western half of Lee County. Each of the three head ends are located inside the WCOV predicted 41 dBu F(50,90) contour. WCOV places a predicted signal of -61 dBm or greater to a wide geographic area in Lee County and to each of the three cable head ends.

Please find attached Exhibits A-C which are the head-end signal level computations for the Wow, Charter and Opelika headends. FCC Rule 76.55 (c)(3) is pasted in below and provides the required signal level definition at the cable head ends:

(3) A television broadcast station that does not deliver to the principal headend, as defined in §76.55, of a cable system a signal level of -45dBm for analog UHF signals, -49dBm for analog VHF signals, or -61dBm for digital signals at the input terminals of the signal processing equipment, i.e., the input to the first active component of the signal processing equipment relevant to the signal at issue, if such station does not agree to be responsible for the costs of delivering to the cable system a signal of good quality or a baseband video signal.

The WCOV facility has been evaluated for compliance with the quoted rule section by evaluating the signal level available at each of the cable head ends for a receive antenna height of 30 feet, 9.1 meters. A simple 5 element yagi 30 feet above ground and modest heliax run having a system gain of 5 dB are used for computing received signal level.

The azimuth bearings to the three head ends and associated ERP values radiated from the WCOV antenna system are as follows:

WOW	43.9 degrees and 85.9 dBm
Charter	42.7 degrees 85.9 dBm
Opelika Power Service	44.7 degrees 85.9 dBm

The signal level in dBm is the ERP in dBm – Free Space Loss – Fresnel Loss + 5db Receive Gain – 8 dB Location Variability. The calculated signal levels at the three cable head ends are:

WOW	- 49.1 dBm.
Charter	-49.4 dBm
Opelika Power Service	-50.2 dBm

These computed signal levels exceed the -61 dBm signal level in all cases by more than 10 dB.

Figure 1 attached depicts the WCOV transmitter site and 41 dBu F(50,90) contour NE of the transmitter site and depicts all of Lee County, Alabama. This map Figure also depicts the predicted real world Longley-Rice F(50,90) 41 dBu signal level which covers 77.3 % of the population and 65.4% of the area of Lee County. Figure 2 depicts the WCOV predicted 41 dBu contour in relation to the three cable head end locations and confirms that all three head ends are within the standard UHF DTV coverage contour.

CONCLUSION

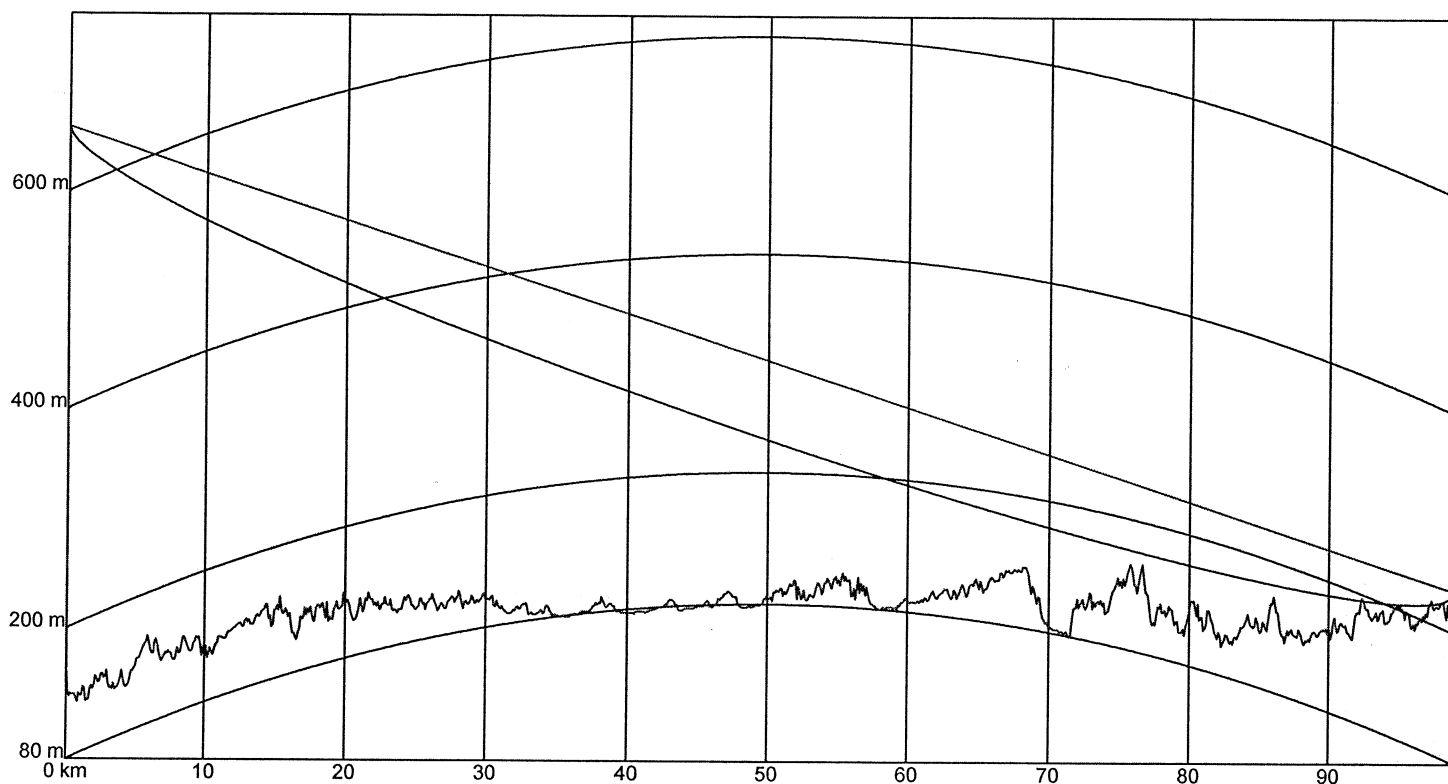

Based on the analysis herein it is believed correct to state that WCOV has significant off-air viewing potential in the western half of Lee County including the communities of Auburn and Opelika. All three cable companies offer service in Western Lee County. It is noted that some FCC records show Bright House Networks and Marcus Cable of Alabama as cable entities providing service to western Lee County however it is our understanding that both entities are now owned by Charter.

The foregoing was prepared on behalf of Woods Communications Corporation by Clarence M.
